

Asia Summer Institute in Behavioral Economics

Date : July 23 to August 3, 2012

Venue : National University of Singapore

The 3rd Asia Summer Institute in Behavioral Economics will feature Colin Camerer, California Institute of Technology, David Laibson, Harvard University and Matthew Rabin, University of California, Berkeley. The purpose of this summer institute is to introduce graduate students and beginning faculty in economics, business, and related disciplines to the findings and methods of behavioral economics.

The Summer Institute is intended for Economics and Business Ph.D. students who by July 2012 will have completed at least two years of their graduate program, and faculty in economics and business who by July 2012 are less than 3 years after their doctoral degree.

To apply, please send a curriculum vita, a statement (maximum three pages) describing both your current research and your interest in behavioral economics, and two letters of recommendation from faculty advisors. Please send your applications and letters in PDF format by e-mail to nusbesi@nus.edu.sg by Friday, April 6, 2012.

More information can be found at
http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/ecs/events/NUSBESI\_2012.html